

I like my privacy and after working all day I do not wish to answer the phone and listen to someone I can't understand trying to sell me some crap. If I wish to purchase something, I will either go to the store or purchase items from the television. The telemarketers disturb my dinner and also my sleep since I retire early.